

Jack Moore
Partner
Evans Incorporated

Jack Moore is a Partner & Director of Corporate Strategy at Evans Incorporated with over 20 years of consulting and CxO advisory experience. Currently focused on growing Commercial, Nonprofit and Federal accounts and providing advisory support to several small and emerging companies.

Prior to joining Evans, Mr. Moore worked as a consultant to clients in both the public and commercial sectors, including five years as a Director and Six Sigma Black Belt for a Fortune 50 financial services company. In addition to providing strategic and practice leadership to the company, Mr. Moore provides senior level consulting services to clients on business process improvement, change management, performance management and project management. His extensive experience with several process improvement methodologies across a variety of industries makes him a major asset to clients seeking a new perspective to address their particular business challenges.

Mr. Moore earned his undergraduate degree in economics from Duke University and a Master of Business Administration from the Duke University Fuqua School of Business. He also holds certifications as a Six Sigma Black Belt and a Project Management Professional (PMP).