

Thomas W. Greeson

Thomas W. Greeson is a partner in the Tysons office of Reed Smith LLP. His law practice focuses on the regulatory and transactional needs of diagnostic radiologists and imaging centers nationally. Prior to entering private practice, Tom served as general counsel to the American College of Radiology. Tom is a current member of the Radiology Business Management Board of Directors and is a recipient of the RBMA's Calhoun Award and also it's President's Award for his service to RBMA. He's a former chair of the Health Law Section of the Virginia Bar Association. He is a president of the Democratic Business Council of Northern Virginia. He is the Board president of Neighborhood Health, a Federally-Qualified Health Center with offices in Alexandria, and Fairfax County. Tom earned his MBA degree from the Terry School of Business of the University of Georgia. He is an honors graduate of Chicago-Kent College of Law.