

Jack Moore

Managing Partner, Evans Incorporated

Jack has over 20 years of consulting experience, providing strategic, senior-level support to leaders and programs in the commercial, federal, and nonprofit sectors. Prior to joining Evans Incorporated eleven years ago, Jack worked as a consultant to clients in both the public and commercial sectors, including the most recent five years as a Director and Six Sigma Black Belt for a Fortune 50 financial services company. Jack's areas of expertise include strategic planning, business process improvement, change management, and project management. His extensive experience with several process improvement methodologies across a variety of industries makes him a major asset to clients seeking a new perspective to address their particular business challenges. Jack earned his undergraduate degree in Economics from Duke University and a Master of Business Administration from the Duke University Fuqua School of Business. He also holds certifications as a Lean Six Sigma Black Belt and a Project Management Professional (PMP).
